

Pauline Frommer is the co-President of Frommer Media, LLC the publisher of the Frommer Guidebooks and Frommers.com with her father, founder Arthur Frommer. The Frommer guidebooks have sold 75 million books since their founding in 1957. Pauline is an award-winning author of several guidebooks, including the best-selling Frommer's EasyGuide to New York City, and countless articles. She was host for many years of the nationally syndicated radio show The Frommer Travel Show and penned an internationally syndicated newspaper column. You may recognize her face as she has talked travel on The Today Show, Good Morning America, the NBC Evening News, Live with Kelly, FOX, MSNBC, CNN, NPR's Talk of the Nation, and every local newscast you can name. Frommer is the mother of two very well-traveled daughters and is married to Columbia University Professor Mahlon Stewart.